

Binder Building 101

Before we get too technical.... lets cover the basics.

When you are considering a binder to store, organise or display your materials, consider the following:

How is the binder going to be used?

Who is going to be using the binder?

How durable does it need to be?

What quantity do you need?

What size sheet is the binder going to accommodate?

What paper weight will you use?

How many sheets per binder?

What type and size of ring do you need?

What colour and texture material do you want?

What type of decoration do you want?

Do you need index tabs?

What other items will be included in the binder?

Do you want us to kit, or assemble the contents for you?

What is your budget?
